A Taste of Spring – JM Cellars and Parent Trust for Washington Children’s 5th annual wine tasting to benefit children and families in Washington State

SEATTLE, WA – April 14, 2010 – Come to A Taste of Spring, hosted by JM Cellars and Parent Trust for Washington Children on Thursday, May 13th from 6-8pm at the Stimson-Green Mansion. JM Cellars, the award-winning Woodinville winery, will be pouring six of their choicest wines, including two brand new wines scheduled to be released this May. All proceeds from the wine tasting will benefit Parent Trust’s parenting education and family support programs that support thousands of children and families throughout Washington State.

JM Cellars is a small, family-owned winery in Woodinville, producing limited amounts of wines from some of Washington’s most exciting vineyards, including several renowned Red Mountain sites. Founder, John Bigelow, crafts his wines one barrel at a time, striving for wines that show both power and finesse, and exemplify the well-balanced fruit, tannic structure, and acidity that has made Washington wine a recognized player on the world stage of fine wines.

Established in 1978, Parent Trust was the first family support agency in the State of Washington. Each year, Parent Trust helps 31,000+ children by providing parenting education and family support services to the children and their parents and caregivers. With offices in both eastern and western Washington, and partnerships across the state, Parent Trust is a respected, dependable source of education and support for parents, caregivers, children, teens and the professional community.

Tickets for the event are $75 each and include entrance into the historic Stimson-Green mansion, sampling of JM Cellars’ wine, hors d’oeuvres, and a commemorative wine glass.
